Bairtish Railways,-There is about £400,000,000 invested in railways in Great Britain; of this £300,000,000 is in shares and the remaining £100,000,000 is on mortgage. Upon this latter, probably an imposed upon North Carolina by the reaverage interest of 42 per cent is paid. If the Government borrowed the whole amount invested at 31 per cent, the interest would amount to £14,000,000, leaving £2,000,-000 for the reduction of rates, or barely one-fifteenth of the receipts.

THE significance of our national flag is thue set forth by Dr. Krauth, editor of the blackberry crop to help to save us from Lutheran and Missionary: "Our country's faith has learned a new interpretation of her standard. The white typifies the purity of purpose which belongs to her true ruler; the red points to the crimson tide in which life flows forth a willing offering: the blue reminds her of the home in heaven to which the good are gathered. The stars in her banner tell of light in darkness, and she shall learn to range them in a new and beautiful order, as the Constellation of the Cross."

FROM this moment, guerrillas and pirates will be hung. Such is the determination of the Government. There is no expectation that after the news of the sur, render of Johnston's forces, England and France will continue to afford harbor for pirate vessels. If they do, our cruisers will be instructed to burn and destroy them whenever they may be found. If England desires a war rather than treat us fairly, she will be accountable, but this Government will not give her any cause his arrest and confinement. The re-arrest was made by order of the War Department to Gen. Pope, commanding the military Division of Missouri; from Gen. Pope to Gen. Curtie, commanding the Department of the Northwest, and from Gen. Curtis to Gen. Davies, commanding the District of Wisconsin. The re-arrest is supposed to be in consequence of their attempts at retaliation for their original arrest.

We understand that they will be tried under the original charges by a military commission. They are said to be as comfortably situated as circumstances will permit, are well provided for, and permitted to see their friends.

FROM THE COTTON STATES.

New York, May 9.—A special to the Times dated Washington the 8th says: Information was received at army headquarters to-day of the final and complete surrender of Dick Taylor's forces in Alabama and Mississippi to Gen. Canby. It is a remarkable fact this news and other

Gen. Wilson is still in Macon. The essatisfaction, inasmuch as the other roads cape of Davis is, therefore, next to imposs ible. It is said that Davis after leaving Yorkville, S. C., reached Washington, Georgia, on the 4th. From here he was again driven by the approach of Gen. Stoneman. The direction taken indicates an attempt to cross the Mississippi river, but he will find Wilson in his path.

The advance of Howard's Corps reached Black and White Station, on the Southside Railroad, on Saturday, having marched 150 miles in five and a half days.

FROM NORTH CAROLINA.

The Herald's North Carolina correspon dent says that when negotiations for John stone surrender commenced he had about 50,000 troops, but not more than 30,000 waited to be paroled—so undisciplined and anxious were they to get out of the army MILITARY ARREST.—The Madison Capiand return home. They stole all the hors-tol of May 8th, has the following in reference they could from their officers and struck off across the country engaged in indiscriminate plundering. Gen. Johnston admitted that he had no control over them He spoke very bitterly of Davis, attributing all the failures to his administration.

If ardee stated that he saw two or three years ago that the rebel cause could not ucceed, and acknowledged that the chivalry, distasteful as it would be to them, would now be compelled to work for their living. He considers South Carolina the worst whipped state in the Union.

FROM WASHINGTON-

New York, May 9.—A special to the Herald says large receipts from the sale of 7-30s enables the Secretary to pay off requisitions of long standing. The financial affairs of Government are now working more easily than for many months past and there is no doubt but that funds sufficient to pay off our soldiers will be obtained. In a few weeks it is expected every dollar of public indebteduces will be discharged. Special to the Tribune says Wie. R. Donaldson, a circus clown, has been arrested as a participant in the Philadelphia arson

Notwithstanding there is an effort to cast censure on Sergeant Corbitt for shooting Booth, the act was approved at the time by all present and is now approved by his own superior officers. Corbitt did not fire until he saw Booth taking sim at one of the officers, and he only intended to wound him. Corbitt had previously asked to be permitted to enter the barn, but the request was several times denied him. The failure of Gov. Fenton to promote him is a cause of regret.

New York, May 9.—The Herald's special says the evidence in the possession of the Government is that the complicity of Jeff. Davis and his proscribed associates is such that no foreign government will hesihigher, but the poorer classes have to thank tate a moment in giving him up. President Johnson's proclamation for their arrest has been sent through the South over the rebel telegraph lines.

There was another long obstinute session to-day on the subject of throwing open the South to unrestricted trade. New York, May 8 .- The Times says that the charge against the commissioners of exchange, Ould and Hatch, who have been arrested by order of Gen. Grant, is that they misappropriated $300,000 sent to our suffering prisoners.

Special to the Post, dated Washington

8th, says the President has ordered that ex-Governor Aiken, of South Carolina, shall no longer be considered under arrest. It is understood that there was no just cause for his arrest by the military authorities at Charleston. A distinguished army officer mentioned this morning as a fact, that there is now telegraph communications between Ma-con, Georgia, and this city.

The Navy Department continues to return Rock River up stream; but he says

The Treasury Department are making arrangements to pay all the back indebt-edness including arrearages and bounties to the army.

The Navy Department will in a short time sell many of the wooden vessels which were purchased to meet pressing emergen It is reliably reported that the commission for the trial of the conspirators engaged in the assassination will comnence to-day. The defendant, however, affects a mystery on the subject and no information can be obtained by the Press. The Harris court martial met to-day and in the absence of important witnesses adjourned till to morrow.

FROM EUROPE.

New York, May 8.—The Times of the 27th says: This evening it may be expected that the leaders of the great parties in the House of commons will take the opportunity of expressing in the name of the nation, the horror which is everywhere felt at the crime, and assuring the American people that whatever difference of opinion may exist in this country as to the present war, there is but one feeling of sympathy with them at the loss of an onest and high-minded Magistrate.

The London and provincial journals alike describe the intense excitement which the news created. All unite in warm eulogiums upon Mr. Lincoln, and bitter denunciation of the assassination. The Paris Constitutional Journal also contains articles upon the subject. The scene on 'Change at Liverpool, will not soon be forgotten. The excitement has rarely, if ever, been equalled. Late in the day a request was sent to the Mayor to call a public meeting to express the sorrow and indignation of the people. Hundreds signed it and the Mayor issued the proclamation for a meeting at St. George's Hall on the afternoon of the 27th, to be adjourned to the evening of the same day, that the working classes may likewise have an opportunity of attending. The flags on the Town Hall and other buildings, and on the shipping at Liverpool, were displayed at half mast.

All the Americans who reside in Liverpool, the Union and Emancipation Society and the people of Manchester and Bir-mingham were to meet on the 27th to ex-

FROM NEW YORK.

New York, May 9.—President Jaurez, of the Mexican Republic, has issued letters of marque and reprisal against the French New York, May 9 .- The Herald says the excitement in regard to the Mexican emigration movement is extending in this city and throughout the country. The office where persons desirous of going in the expedetion may register their names, was opened here yesterday morning and was crowded all day by applicants. Most of the volunteers in the movement are veterans who have served in the army of the Union the past four years. Common emigrants it is understood are guaranteed 1000 acres of land. The bounties to those receiving commissions as officers, will of course be much larger. It is reported that the Mexican Republican General Ortega is at the head of the enterprise and that all the emigrants will go fully supplied with weapons of defence, and that such arrangements have been made as to allow of this without a breach of international neutrality.

FROM RICHMOND.

Washington, May 8.—The Richmond Whig of the 6th contains an order from Gen. Halleck, that after the 20th, all persons found in arms against the United States in Virginia and North Carolina. will be treated as rebels and outlaws. Persons assisting in organizing guerrilla bands and continuing hostilities against the United States will be tried by a military com-mission and sentenced to death. Military officers are to preserve order and reconcile differences between the freedmen and their masters. Freedmen are obliged to work but may select their own employers. For minors not cared for by parents the apprentice system is to be introduced.

Full Details of Johnston's Surrender

GREEFAUORO, N. C., MAY Sp. 1865, } The task of paroling Johnston's army has just ended. Every officer and man has taken an obligation not to take up arms against the United States government until properly released. Officers have been allowed to retain their side arms, private horses and personal baggage. All the horses and mules have been returned, including the artillery and cavalry horses. This has been done both to facilitate the homeward march and aid in replacing the stock of the country.

The entire arrangements of the surrender have been conducted by Gen. Schofield. He appointed from the Army of the Ohio, nine officers as special commissioners on our part to sign the rolls and receive the public stores. Brig. Gen. Wm. Hartuff was in charge of the party. He left Raleigh on a special train on Sunday morning and reached Greensboro at 4 o'clock p. m. on Monday. The number paroled is about 28,000, including many sick and wounded from several rebel armies, a large number of stragglers from Lee's army, and the naval brigade commanded by the pirate Seames. The regiments were greatly depleted in Lee's corps, avaraging where consolidated about 800 men present and the mortified bravo found himself, there-

THE CORPS SURRENDERED.

Three corps were surrondered-Hardee's thousand cavalry under Gens. Butler, Hampton and White. By special agreement five per cent. of the small arms were retained by the rebels. The Government will receive about fifteen thousand stand of arms, one hundred and fifty cannon, large supply of ammunition, and nearly all the rolling stock of the Confederacy, east of the Chattahoochee river. This, however, is much worn.

THE OBLIGATION. Each officer, from Johnston to the commander of a company or detachment, made out rolls in duplicate of all officers and men who appeared on the same muster rolls with themselves, and to these the following obligation was attached, and dated at Greensboro, in accordance with the Military Convention, entered into on the 25th day of April, 1865, between General Joseph E. Johaston, commanding Confederate armies and General W. T. Sherman, commanding the army of the United States in North Carolina:

"We, the officers and men whose names are horne on these rolls, have given our solemn obligation not to take up arms against the Government of the United States until properly released from this obligation, and we are permitted to return to our homes, not to be disturbed by the United States authorities so long as we observe this obligation and obey the laws in force where we may reside."

Thus each officer becomes responsible for his staff, and each officer in succession for those under him. Individual paroles corresponding in number to the names on the rolls, properly signed on both sides, were then delivered to these officers for distribution.

LIST OF GENERALS.

The following officers surrendered with their staffs; Gen. J. E. Johnston, Lt. Gens. S. D. Lee, W. J. Hardee, Stewart and Beauregard, with a portion of Bragg's staff, Maj. Gens. D. H. Hill, N. C. Stevenson, of Va., Wm. B. Bale, of Tenn., R. F. Hoke, of N. C., J. C. Brown, of Tenn., Loring, Walthal, Andrews and Lomax, of Lee's army; Brig. Gen. Wm. F. Brantly, of Miss.; J. A. Sharp, of Miss.; E. W. Pettus, of Ala.; J. H. Henderson of Ga.; O. L. L. Bingham, J. B. Palmer, of Tenn.; Capersy, of S. C.; Govan, of Ark.; J. Smith, of Tenn.; Col. Quitt, of Ga.; H. R. Jackson, H. War ren, T. B. Smith, F. Y. Warren, R. C. Ty ler, of Tenn.; J. J. Findley, of Fla.; Shelley, Featherstone, Lowry and Davidson, of Lee's army; Commodores Forrest and Lynch, and the pirate Semmes of the Confederate navy.

THE FEELING OF THE REBEL ARMY.

Johnston, in conve cers, said that the obstacles overcome by our army were unprecedented in the history of the world. Hardee stated that the swamps through which Sherman led his army in South Carolina, were deemed utterly impassible by the best judges in their army. While the officers and soldiers seem to feel their failure deeply, yet all rejoiced that the war was over and they could go home. The citizens everywhere gladly hail the approach of peace. The sentiment of the army was strong and marked against the assassination of the President. All admit freely that they are soundly whipped, and that slavery is dead. Johnston remarked that the South would get along much better without the system.

THE REBEL CAMPS. The rebel camp equipage was very limited and much worn. Corps headquarters were allowed only two tents and one small wagon. About half their wagons and ambulance trains had been captured from the United States. The army was stretched along the railroad from Hillsboro to Charlotte, and officers have been sent to the latter place to parole the forces there. The rebel troops are stealing everything from the citizens, and their breaking up is much dreaded by the rebels. Their camps were pitched with little regard to order, and resembled our biyouacs, more than regular camps. The reports which have been circulated concerning the impoverished con-dition of the South and the approximate extermination of the fighting population is confirmed by the concurrent testimony of officers representing all sections. The feeling against England and Frr.ace is universal and intensely bitter. The hatred which Southern soldiers cherished against Northern troops in the first years of the war has almost entirely disappeared.

JEFF. DAVIS' PLIGHT. Both Johnston and Hardee state that the termination of the truce, guarded by 1,000 picked men under Wheeler and Basil Duke. He had with him the specie taken from Richmond, with the exception of $500,000, which was distributed among the troops here, each officer and soldier receiving between one and two dollars. Tomorrow a great part of the army will start for home. The late decision of the Attorney General, fixing the status of the rebels, fell like a thunderbolt upon thou-sands who desire to enter the Border States and come North. Many prominent officers intend to leave for Europe at once.

REMARKABLE RAILROAD PERFORMANCE. Quite a feat was accomplished between Michigan City and Lake Station, on the occasion of the reception of the funeral cortege, which railroad men, if not the general public, will appreciate. At the former place, at which the funeral train arrived at 8:24 yesterday morning, Gen. Hooker stepped off to get breakfast, and while eating, the train left. Major Jas. S. Hopper, train dispatcher of the Michigan Central at Michigan City, went to the company's shop, and took a locomotive, which, with the General on board, overTHE ASSASSINATION PLOT.

A correspondent of the New York World

furnishes the following interesting facts in connection with the plot for the assassing- extended.

BOOTH THE ORIGINAL PROJECTOR OF THE CRIME.

Strange and anomalous as the factsmay seem, John Wilkes Booth was the sole proector of the plot against the President which culminated in the taking of that good man's life. He had rolled under his longue the sweet paragraphs of Shakespeare referring to Brutus, as had his father so well that the old man named one son Junius Brutus, and the other John Wilkes, after the wild English agitator, until it became his ambition, like the wicked Lorenzo de Medici, to stake his life upon one stroke for fame-the murder of ruler obnoxious to the South.

When Booth began, "on his own responsibility," to hunt for accomplices, he found his theory at fault. The bold men he had dreamed of refused to join him in the rash attempt of kidnapping the President, and were too conscientious to meditate murder. fore, compelled to sink to a petty rank in the plot, or to make use of base and despicable assistants. His vanity found it C. D. Lee,s, and Stewart's, with about a casicr to compound with the second alter-thousand cavalry under Gens. Butler, native than the first.

BOOTH'S "CUE" PROM CANADA. He visited the provinces once certainly, and three times it is believed, stopping in Montreal at St. Lawrence Hall, and banking four hundred and fifty-five dollars at the Ontario Bank. This was his own money. I have myself seen his bank-book with the single entry of this amount. It was found in the room of Atzerat at Kirkwood's Hotel. From this visit, what-ever encouragement Booth received, he continued in systematic correspondence with one or more of those agents down to the commission of his crime. I dare not say how far each of these agents was implicated. My personal conviction is that they were neither loth to the murder nor astonished when it had been done. They had money at discretion from the Confederacy, though acting at discretion and out-side of responsibility, and always, at very wild adventure, they instructed their dupes that each man took his life in his hand on every incursion to the North. So Beale took his, raiding on the great lakes. So Kennedy took his, on a midnight bonfire tramp into the metropolis. So took the St. Albans raiders their lives in their palms, dashing into a peaceful town. And if these agents entertained Wilkes Booth's suggestion at all, they plainly told him that he carried his life in his dagger's edge, and could expect from them neither aid nor exculpation.

BOOTH PURNISHED WITH A MURDERER FROM CANADA. Some one or all of these agents furnish-Booth with a murderer. The fellow Wood or Payne, who stabbed Mr. Seward and was found at Mrs. Sarratt's house in Washington. He was one of three Kentucky brothers, all outlaws, and had himself, it is believed, accompanie I one of his brothers, who is known to have been at St. Albans on the day of the bank-delivery. This Payne, beside being positively identified as the assassin of the Sewards, had no friends in Washington. He was simply a dispatched murderer, and after the night of the crime, struck northward for the frontier, instead of southward in the company of Booth. The proof of this will follow in the course of the article. THE MOTHER OF THE CENI. Southeast of Washington stretches a tapering peninsula, composed of four fertile counties, which at the remote tip make Point Lookout, and do not contain any within them of more than a few hundred inhabitants. Tobacco has ruined the land of these, and slavery has ruined the people. Yet in the beginning they were of that splendid stock of Calvert and Lord Baltimore, but retain to-day only the religion of the peaceful founder. The Assassins mark time.

These are our most loyal citizens elsewhere, but the western shore of Maryland is a noxious and pestilential place for patriotism. The county immediately outside of the District of Columbia, to the south, is named Prince George's and the pleasantest village of this county, close to Washington, is called Surrattsville. This consists of a few cabins at a cross road, surrounding a fine old hotel, the master whereof giving the settlement his name, left the property to his wife, who for a long time carried it on with indifferent success. Having a son and several daughters, she moved to Washington soon after the beginning of the war, and let the tavern to a trusty friend-one John Lloyd. Surrattsville has gained nothing in patronage or business from the war, except that it became at an early date, a rebel postoffice. The great secret mail from Matthias creek, to Port Tobacco, struck Sarrattsville, and thence headed off to the cast of Washington, going meanderingly north. Of this post-route Mrs. Surratt was managress : and Lloyd, whon he rented her hotel, assumed the responsibility of looking out for the mail, as well as the duty of making Mrs. Surratt at home whenever she chose to visit him.

So Surratsville, only ten miles from Washington, has been throughout the war a seat of conspiracy. It was like a suburh of Richmond, reaching quite up to the rival capital; and though the few Union-ists on the regular let. ists on the peninsula knew its reputation well enough, nothing of the sort came out until after the murder.

Treason never found a better agent than

Mrs. Surratt. Two coleagues for blood were at once accepted

Payne and Atzeratt.
The former I have sketched; he is beieved to have visited Washington once before, at Booth's citation ; for the murder was at first fixed for the day of inauguration. Atzeratt was a fellow of German descent, who had led a desperate life at Port Tobacco, where he was a house-painter. He had been a blockade-runner acress the Potomac, and a mail-carrier. When Booth and Mrs. Surratt broke the design to him with a suggestion that there was wealth in it, he embraced the offer at once. and bought a dirk and pistol. Payne also came from the North to Washington, and, as fate would have it, the President was announced to appear at Ford's theater. There the resolve of blood was reduced to a definite moment.

THE NIGHT REFORE THE MURDER. On the night before the crime, Booth found on whom he could rely. John Sur-ratt was sent northward by his mother on Thursday. Sam. Arnold and McLaugh-lin, each of whom was to kill a Cabinet officer, grew pigeon-livered and ran away. , true to his partiality, lingered Harrold around Booth to the end. Atzeratt went so far as to take his knife and pistol to Kirkwood's, where President Johnson was stopping, and hid them under the bed. But either his courage failed, or a trifling accident deranged his plan. But Payne, a professional murderer, stood "game," and fought his way over prostrate figures to his sick victim's bed. There was great confusion and terror among the tacit and rash conspirators on Thursday night. They had looked upon the plot as of a melodrama, and found to their horror that John Wilkes Booth meant to do murder.

PREPARATIONS FOR THE ACT AND FLIGHT. Six weeks before the murder, young John Suratt had taken two splendid repeating carbines to Surattville and told bohn Lloyd to secrete them. The latter made a hole in the wainscotting and suspended them from strings so that they fell within the plastered wall of the room below. On the very afternoon of the murder, Mrs. Suratt was driven to Surattville, and she told John Loyd to have the carbines ready, because they would be called for that night. Harrold was made Quartermaster and hired the horses. He and Atzeratt were mounted between 8 o'clock and the time of the murder, and riding about the streets together.

The whole party was prepared for a long ride, as their spurs and guantiets show. It may have been their design to ride in company to the lower Potomac, and by their numbers exact subsistence and transportation; but all edifices of murder lack a corner stone. We only know that Booth ate and talked well during the dny; that he never seemed so deeply involved in "oil," and that there is a histus between the supper here and his appearance at Ford's Theater.

BOASTS OF BLOOD. Lloyd, I may interpolate, ordered his wife a few days before the murder to go on a visit to Allen's Fresh. She says she does not know why she was sent away, but swears that it is so. Harrold, three weeks before the murder, visited Port To-bacco, and said that thenext time the boys heard of him he would be in Spain; he added that with Spain there was no extradition treaty. He said at Surrateville that he meant to make a barrel of money, or his neck would stretch.

Atzeratt said that if ever he came to Port l'obacco again he would be rich enough to buy the whole place.

dience, visited the stage and took note of the positions. His alleged associate, the stage carpenter, then received quiet orders to clear the passage by the wings from the prompter's post to the stage door. All this time, Mr. Lincoln, in his family circle. unconscious of death that crowded fast upon him, watched the pleasantry and smiled and felt heartful of gentleness.

Suddenly there was a murmur near the udience door, as of a man speaking above his bound. He said:

"Nine o'clock and forty-five minutes!" These words were reiterated from mouth to mouth until they passed the theater door, and were heard upon the sidewalk.

Directly a voice cried, in the same slightly-raised monotone:

"Nine o'clock and fifty minutes!" This also passed from man to man, un-il it touched the street like a shudder. "Nine o'clock and fifty-five minutes!" said the same relentless voice, after the next interval, each of which narrowed to a lesser span the life of the good President.

Ten o'clock sounded, and conspiring cho said in reverberation: "Ten o'clock!" So like a creeping thing, from lip to lip,

"Ten o'clock and five minutes." (An interval.)

'Ten o'clock and ten minutes!" At this instant Wilkes Booth appeared in the door of the theatre, and the men who lad repeated the time so faithfully and so ominously scattered at his coming,

DRIFTING TOWARD THE DEATH.

THE TELEGRAPH WIRES SEVERED.

Within afteen minutes after the murder the wires were severed entirely around the wires were severed entirely around the city, excepting only a secret wire for Government uses, which leads to Old Point. I am told that by this wire the Government reached the fortifications around Washington, first telegraphing all the way to Old Point, and then back to the outlying forts. Payne, having, as he thought, made an end of Mr. Seward which would have been the case but for Robinson, the nurse mounted his horse, and attempted to find Booth. But the town was in alarm, and he galloped at once for the country, taking, as he imagined, the proper road for the East Branch. He rode at a killing pace, and when near Fort-Lincoln, on the Baltimore pike, his horse threw him headlong. Afoot and bewildered, he resolved to return to the city, whose lights he could plainly see; but before doing so he con-cealed himself some time, and made some almost abourd efforts to disguise himself. Cutting a cross section from the woolen undershirt which covered his muscular arm, he made a rude cap of it, and threw away his bloody coat. This has since been found in the woods, and blood has been found also on his bosom and sleeves. He also spattered himself plentifully with mud and clay, and taking an abandoned pick from the deserted intrenchments near by, he struck out at once for Washington.

By the providence which always attends murder, he reached Mrs. Surratt's door just as the officers of the Government were arresting her. They seized Payne at once, who had an awkward lie to urge in his defense—that he had come there to dig a trench. That night he dug a trench cases? HOW A WOMAN CAN MURDER.

Coarse, and hard, and calm, Mrs. Surratt shut up her house after the murder, and waited with her daughters till the officers came. She was impertur-bable, and rebuked her girls for weeping, and would have gone to jail like a statue but that in her extremity Payne knocked at her door. He had come, he said, to dig a ditch for Mrs. Surratt, whom he very well knew. But Mrs. Surratt protested that she had never seen the man at all and had no ditch to clean.

"How fortunate, girls," she said, "that

Her effrontery stamps her as worthy of companionship with Booth. Payne has been identified by a lodger of Mrs. Surratt's, as having twice visited the house under the name of Wood. The girls will render valuable testimony in the trial. If John Surratt were in custody, the links would be complete.

FLIGHT OF ATZERATT.

Atzeratt had a room almost directly or er Vice President Johnson's. He had al the materials to do murder, but lost spirit or opportunity. He ran away so hastily that all his arms and baggage were discovered; a tremendous bowie knife and Colt's navy revolver were found between the mattresses of his bed. Booth's coat was also found there, showing conspired flight in company, and in it three boxes of cartridges, a map of Maryland, gauntlets for riding, a spur and a handkerchief, marked with the name of Booth's mother -a mother's couvenir for a murderer's pocket!

Atzeratt fled alone, and was found at the house of his uncle in Montgomery they have, moreover, received the warm-County. I do not know as any instrument of murder has ever made me thrill as when I drew this terrible bowie-knife from its sheath. Major O'Beirne, of New York, was the instigator of Atzeratt's dis-

After having played on the Piano of Messre. Enabe A Co., it is impossible not to bear testimony to their qualities, which have acquired for them the eminent reputation which they enjoy. The Pianos of their manufacture, on which I have played, are exceedingly remarkable for their qualities. The base is powerful without barshases, and the appear notes sweet clear and harmonismity mellow, (chrystelline,) and I do not hesitate to express in regard to these instruments my entire satisfaction, and to declars that they are equal if set superior to the best manufactured in Europe or this country by the most calebrated makers.

A NOTE OF WARNING.

Let the poets say what they will, Spring is a treacherous season. It "trieth the bones." Of its damps and togs, its east winds and its capricious temperature come the key chills and the burning heats of intermit tout fever. Missma thaws out of the earth in clouds under the vernal beams. At no period of the year do so the system require strengthening more than at this. To fall sick now is to be incapacitated from strug. gling with the beats of summer. Who desires to meethe blazing weather of June, July, and August, with an organization enfeebled by spring diseases! Now is the time to reinforce Nature and render the frame and the constitution summer-proof,]

As soon as the frost gets out of the earth the stom ach seems to loose its tone and the appetite to fade. An indescribable assitude overcomes the body and ment : energies, and slight exertions often bring on palpits tion and nervous tramors. These symptoms are the mula demands of the physique for help and succor The influence of the season is depressing even upon the vigorous, while to the naturally feeble it is still more disastrous. Truly death reaps a heavy harvest h March, April and May. During those months the dyspeptic, the billious, and the hypochondriacal always suffer most severely. Against all the ailments produced by missum, sudden alterations of temperature, ex posure or close confinement in doors, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS is the most potent of all medicinal safe guards. From the Hom. Thomas B. Florence. Washingron, Jan. 1st, 1864.

Gentlemen:—Having stated it verbally to you, I have no benitation in writing the fact, that I experienced marked benefit from your Hoofiand's German Bitters. During a long and tedions session of Congress, pressing and onerous duties nearly prostrated me. A kind friend suggested the use of the preparation I have named. I took his advice, and the result was improvement of health, renewed energy, and that particular relief is o much needed and obtained. Others may be similarly advantaged if they desire to be. be similarly advantaged if they desire to be.

Truly your friend, THOMAS B. FLORENCE.

From John H. Withersham, Esq., firm of Withersham and Hutchinson, the celebrated manufacturers of Fancy Iron Works, 259 Canal street:

I am the recipient from you of one of the greatest favors that can be conferred upon man, viz., that of health. For many years have I suffered from one of the most annoying and debilitating complaints that the human family can be afflicted with; Chronic Diarrhos.

the numer is not can be afflicted with; Chronic Diarrhors.

During the long time I was suffering from this disease, I was attended by regular physicians, giving me but temporary relief. The cames seemed to remain until I was induced to try Hoodiand's German Bitters. After the use of a few bottles of that valuable medicine, the complaint appeared to be completely eradicated. cated.

I often inwardly thank you for such a valuable specific, and, when I have an opportunity, cheerfully recommend it, with full confidence in its reliability.

Trail yours. JOHN B. WITHERSHAM.

New York, Feb. 2, 1864.

From Julius Lee, Esq., Arm of Lee & Walker, the most extensive Mosic Publishers in the United States, No. 722 Chestnut street, Philadelphia. Masses. Jones of Ecuns—Gentlemen: My mother-in-law has been so greatly benefitted by your Hoodand's German Bitters that I concluded to try it myself. It find it to be an invaluable tonic, and unbestatingly recommend it to all who are suffering from dyspepsia. I have had that disease in its most obstinate form— fintulence—for many years, and your Betters has given the case when everything else had failed. Yours truly, JULIES LEE.

From the lion. Jacob Broom.

From the Hon. Jacob Broom.

Gentlemen:—In reply to your inquiry as to the state produced by the use of Hoofman's German Bitters in my family. I have no besitation in saying that it has been highly beneficial. In one instance, a case of dyspepsia of thirteen year's standing, and which had become very distressing, the use of one bottle gave decided relief, the second effecting a cure, and the third, it seems, has confirmed the cure, for there has been no symptoms of its return for the last six years. In my individual use of it, I find it to be an unequiled tonic and sincerely recommend its use to the sufferers.

Truly yours, JACOB BROOM, 1707 Sprace.

From Rev. W. D. Seigfried, Pastor of the 12th Baptist Church:

PRILABELYNIA, December 25th, 1853.

Mairs. Jones & Brans—Gentlemen: I have recently been laboring under the distressing effects of indigection, accompanied by a prostration of the nervous system. Numerous remedies were recommended by friends, and some of them tested but without relief Your Hoodand's German Bitters were recommended by persons who had tried them, and whose favorable mention of the Bitters induced me also to try them. I must confess that I had an aversion to Patent Medicines, from the "thousand and one" gunck "Bitters," whose only sim seems to be to pain off awestened and drugged liquor upon the community, in a sly way; and the tendoncy of which, I fear, is to make many a confirmed simulard. Upon hearing that yours was really a medicinal preparation, I took it with happy effect. Its action not only upon the stomach, but upon the nervous system, was prompt and gratifying. I feel that I have derived great and perimanent benefit from the use of a few bottles.

Way respectfully yours, W. D. SEIGRIED,

From the Raw. Thos. Wanter. D. D. "Pastor.

From the Rev. Thos. Winter, D. D., Pastor of Roxbury Baptist Church:

Dr. Jackson—Dear Sir: I feel it due to your excellent preparation, Hoofand's German Bitters, to add my testianony to the deserved reputation it has obtained. I have for years, at times, been troubled with great disorder in my head and nervous system. I was advised by a friend to try a bottle of your German Bitters. I did so, and have experienced great and unsupertied reliefs my bealth has been very materially benefitted. I confidently recommend the sricle where I meet with cases similar to my own, and have been assured by many of their good effects.

Respectfully yours, E. WINTER, Roxbourough, Pa.

From Rev. J. S. Herman, of the German Reformed Church, Kutztown, Berke county, Pa.

Dr. C. Jackson-Respected Sir: I have been troubled with Dyspopia nearly twenty years, and have never used any medicine that did me as much good as Hoofland's German Bitters. I am very much improved in health, after having taken five bottles.

Yours, with respect,
